

Embracing Anxiety

By Paul Meier, M.D.

Rather than be distraught about anxiety, embrace it! Use it to learn better coping skills and more dependence on God for the strength and wisdom to do the best you can in whatever situation you are feeling anxious about. Here are some thoughts and suggestions to help you embrace your anxiety and learn from it.

- ▶ People who have a strong faith in God's ultimate sovereignty and love fare better than those who see this life as "all there is."
- ▶ People who can admit their fears, anger, sadness, and other emotions also fare better.
- ▶ People who have a strong support group (close family, healthy church life, intimate friends who know all their secrets and love them anyway, etc.) also fare better. My daughter Cheryl (a psychologist in at one of our California clinics) and I wrote a book on the art of biblically loving and being loved entitled Unbreakable Bonds. James 5:16 says that if we confess our faults one to another, we will be healed. People come from around the world to attend our Day Programs where they confess their faults and unresolved grief to a small group of other clients and therapists. It causes profound healing in a short time, as the Bible promises. Still, though, some individuals take longer to heal than others.
- ▶ People who grew up in open, loving, healthy families fare better than people with various kinds of emotional, physical, or sexual abuse in their childhood. The terrorist acts of 9-11 caused painful flashbacks, nightmares, and panic attacks in people who had been terrorized by their own private "Osama Bin Ladens" (mean, selfish parents, rapists, and various other "jerks") in their pasts.
- ▶ Non-perfectionists fare better than perfectionists. Any changes, better or worse, tend to upset extreme perfectionists who like everything to be in a safe routine they can count on to have no surprises. Others are not born perfectionists, but become excessively so because of childhood abuses. The more out-of-control you feel growing up (alcoholic, abusive parent, controlling parent, etc.), the more controlling and perfectionistic you naturally become to compensate for your fears. For example, in most families the mom and dad have limited insight into their own faults, so they get more abusive with whatever child reminds them unconsciously of the faults they don't see in themselves.

Anxiety is the fear of finding out the truth about your own unconscious thoughts, feelings and motives (rage, shame, fear of rejection, fear of death, intense sadness, etc.). Perfectionists have more fear, anxiety, depression, panic, headaches, "chronic fatigue syndrome," and fear of medications (and imagined and real side effects). In fact, if you have a specific phobia, such as a fear of elevators, then ride one on purpose an hour a day until the apprehension ends.

So insight into our fears and dealing with them biblically is the primary cure for anxiety. One technique that helps is to carry around a 3 x 5 card, and whenever you start to worry about something, write the topic down on the card and promise yourself to worry about that on purpose later, at a certain time that night. As you do that throughout the day, you have a worry-free day. At the promised time, pull out the list and pray about each of the topics, thinking of your best-guess solution. Now your worries have become constructive and helpful as you take them all to Jesus.

Some people need medications to relieve the unbearable pain of these attacks, but most can overcome these with a year or two of outpatient weekly therapy from a well-trained psychologist, or several weeks of intensive therapy in a Day Program. Quick or slow, these pains of fear are always relievable.

But some fear is healthy. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. Fear Him, love Him, and trust Him to help you cope with your anxiety and fear.

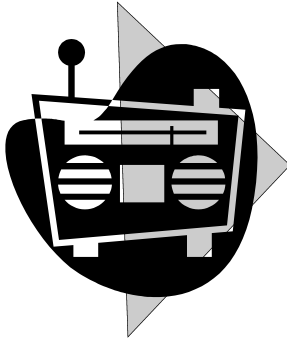

For more information on embracing anxiety, read Fear Less for Life, co-authored by Dr. Meier

For information on the Meier Clinics Radio broadcast times and stations, Meier Clinics, Calvary Center, or To Your Health, please see reverse side.

MEIER CLINICS RADIO PROGRAM

Monday through Friday

| | | | |
|------|----------|-------------------|------------------|
| WABS | 780 AM | Baltimore/DC area | 1:00—1:30 p.m. |
| WYLL | 1160 AM | Chicago | 8:00—8:30 p.m. |
| WTSJ | 1050 AM | Cincinnati | 1:00—1:30 p.m. |
| KWRD | 100.7 FM | Dallas | 9:00—10:00 p.m. |
| KKLA | 99.5 FM | Los Angeles | 11:00—11:30 p.m. |
| WPIT | 730 AM | Pittsburgh | 11:00—11:30 a.m. |
| WORD | 101.5 FM | Pittsburgh | 2:30—3:00 a.m. |
| KFIA | 710 AM | Sacramento | 7:30—8:00 p.m. |
| KGNW | 820 AM | Seattle | 9:30—10:00 p.m. |

Paul Meier, M.D., co-founded the Meier Clinics in 1976 to provide compassionate and personalized Christian mental health care to individuals and families. Our services are based on sound medical and psychiatric principles with a solid foundation built upon Judeo-Christian beliefs.

We provide outpatient counseling services for all ages at all of our clinics coast-to-coast. We also have an intensive day treatment program for adults in seven states and for adolescents in our Texas and Illinois clinics.

For more information about Meier Clinics or to schedule an appointment, call our national toll-free number

888-7CLINIC
(888-725-4642)

For on-line therapy or additional information about our clinics, log on to www.meierclinics.org

Since 1963, Calvary Center has provided faith-based treatment programs and other assistance to individuals and families whose lives have been impacted by addiction.

Calvary Center offers a Christian 30-day residential treatment program. We are located in Phoenix, Arizona, and provide a safe therapeutic environment where individuals can understand and develop sobriety skills.

For ongoing care, Calvary Center offers transitional living programs and aftercare programs where clients are able to put their sobriety skills to use.

For more information about Calvary Center, please call us toll-free at

866-76SOBER
(866-767-6237)

or online at www.calvaryrehab.org

To Your Health is a liquid dietary supplement designed by a team of scientist, psychiatrists, and Dr. Paul Meier. An outside scientific evaluation team validated the quantity and quality of each ingredient. The liquid format allows for excellent absorption of a unique blend of vitamins, minerals, antioxidants and essential amino acids. For more information or to order, log on to www.meierclinics.org